THE ROBBINS FAMILY OF CAPE COD.

Compiled by H. N. Latey.

Note.—The following data have been collected from many sources, the most important of which is a manuscript record compiled by the late Mr. I. Gilbert Robbins of Boston, now in the possession of Mr. William A. Robbins of New York. The late Hon. Josiah Paine had collected a considerable amount of data on this family and supplied much information to both Mr. Robbins and the writer. Nearly all of the earlier records are found in the published vital records, in the Mayflower Descendant and elsewhere, but most of the later records are from Mr. Robbins's manuscript, which does not state where the information was obtained. The matter is published in its present incomplete state hoping that someone interested may continue the work and publish a complete and accurate genealogy. It doubtless contains many errors and omissions and the publisher will be glad to receive corrections and additions.

Only two references have been found regarding John Robbins, who is believed to have been the first of that name in Harwich; the first, a transcript of a deed in the papers of Hon. Josiah Paine dated Oct. 30, 1713, in which Samuel Robbins transfers fifty acres of land, in what is now North Harwich, to his brother James on condition that the latter maintain and care for John and Sarah Robbins, their parents, for life. According to this deed Samuel had obtained this land from his father, who had purchased it from one John Pugsly, who died before 1711. It is probable, therefore, that John Robbins was in Harwich before 1711.

The other reference to John Robbins is in the will of James Robbins filed at Barnstable, dated Nov. 6, 1717, in which are mentioned wife Thankful, father John and brother Nathaniel Higgins, the latter being a brother of Thankful Higgins, wife of James.

These records prove that John and Sarah were the parents of Samuel and James, and it is assumed that Roger, the only other Robbins in this district at this time, was also a son of John, although no proof has been found of this.

In the Marblehead vital records is found a marriage of John Robbins and Sarah Childs dated Oct. 13, 1689, and a record of an unnamed child born the same year. It has not been possible to connect this record with John and Sarah of Harwich, but no records to the contrary are found and the connection is considered probable.

As to the probable ancestry of John, a careful study of all available early records eliminates all of the various Robbins families except the following:

1st. Mr. I. Gilbert Robbins in his manuscript record refers to one Nathaniel Robbins, who married in Barnstable in 1641 Mary Hinckley, daughter of the first Samuel of that name. Mr. Robbins assumes that John might have been a child of this marriage. Inasmuch as there was at this time a family named Childs in Barnstable in which Samuel and Richard were family names, this line if proved may clear up the uncertainty as to the maiden name of Sarah, wife of John Robbins.

2nd. The frequent use of the name Richard in the Cape Cod family suggests the descent from Richard of Cambridge, who had a son John born at Charlestown May 31, 1640, not accounted for in the records, although mentioned in the will of his father. This man appears somewhat old but the deed above referred to would seem to indicate that in 1713 John was old and infirm and unable to take care of himself.

If he is not descended from one or the other of the above it is believed he was an emigrant from England and had no known connection with other American families.
